

BULL-E-TIN NO 8

Bloody Mary's, Black Russians, Woodstock Bourbon's and Draught Cans – the Bull's survival kit in Alice Springs this Master's campaign

In 2008 there will be every reason to celebrate as the Bulls are back in town and obviously with celebration comes headaches the next morning. The medical attendants of the Bull's have put together suggested tried and true hangover cure remedies. These are suggestions based on medical facts with any one, or all at once, being effective

The Bloody Mary
First raised itself as an instant cure last campaign. However can be dangerous in large doses and could cause panic if regurgitation occurs due to colour as it may appear internal bleeding has occurred

The Black Russian
Has become a favourite of recent times, although medicos are concerned with the name alone as no-one is yet to see a "Black Russian"

The Draught Can
Not suitable for all and by all accounts will only really assist Drinka to keep the alcohol content up to an acceptable level. Not easily stomached.

The Woodstock Bourbon
Appears to be a favourite with the majority of the squad, however is not suitable in high doses as has been known to increase the amount of Bulls-hit that is spoken.

The Panadol
Only used in severe cases but has its uses. Can stop the thumping and hallucinations if required but not the vomiting. May also be useful if caught on the bench near Rocket.

The Bucket
Only useful in extreme cases, not as a cure but for prevention, bunkmates can be a little testy if you don't get to the bowl in time and it effects their time in the house.

The Moxie Bull Cream
Only available on Tuesdays and in limited supply. May be difficult to obtain in large doses And may need to be drug tested.

If all else fails !
